Forecast For Northern Ireland
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 0400 on Friday 16 Jul 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Sunny spells and very warm.

Today:
A rather cloudy start, particularly through Fermanagh, Tyrone and parts of the north coast with some mist. Otherwise dry with bright and sunny spells developing and becoming very warm in any sunshine. Winds will be light. Maximum temperature 25 deg C (77 deg F).

Tonight:
A fine end to the day, although low cloud and mist possible around some coasts. The low cloud and mist will become more extensive overnight with fog patches. Minimum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Saturday:
Low cloud and mist burning away during the morning with sunny periods and becoming very warm or hot in the south and east. Sea breezes keeping the north coast fresher. Maximum temperature 26 deg C (79 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Staying mainly dry and settled, although a little drizzle possible in the north early in the day. Bright or sunny spells developing widely, warm or very warm in any sunshine.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.